Tradewood's core business is the import and distribution of timber associated products for further distribution into the construction market. Tradewood as a company, undertake their obligations to the protection of the global environment very seriously and endeavour to source where possible product, from sustainable managed sources.

To facilitate this, Tradewood have introduced policies and procedures to control the sourcing, purchasing, storage and distribution from point of source to final delivery to the customer. Tradewood have appointed a company representative who has a defined responsibility and authority, for ensuring that the chain-of-custody is both implemented and maintained within the company.

The authorised person is responsible for the training of the staff so that they are kept abreast of any changes to legislation and are fully conversant with the company's policy and procedures. He or she is also responsible for the maintenance of all records associated with the implementation of the COC policy according to the requirements set down.

We as a company will endeavour to comply with all the regulations and procedures set out under the Chain of Custody Certification.
